ANNOUNCEMENT

The compilers of this Catalogue have sought to secure historical accuracy and have, so far as permitted by the limited time between the receipt of the lenders' descriptions and the printing of the catalogue, endeavored to verify the historical statements it contains. For any error which may have been caused by incorrect family traditions, they cannot, however, hold themselves responsible. As it is hoped that the catalogue may be of permanent value to antiquarians and collectors, the committee will gladly welcome corrections or additions. These may be addressed to

CHAIRMAN D. R. CATALOGUE COMMITTEE,

DOROTHY Q. CHAPTER

BOSTON, MASS.

April 16, 1896

Mrs. Joseph H. Meredith, Chapter Regent

"Dorothy Q." was daughter of Edmund Quincy of Quincy and married a Mr. Jackson. Their daughter, Mary Jackson, was the grandmother of Oliver Wendell Holmes, the physician and poet. This Dorothy Q. is often confounded with her famous niece (daughter of Edmund Quincy, Jr.), who married Gov. John Hancock.

Every neutral nation's flag, provided they make it themselves to be respected, is considered as neutral: the decrees of Berlin and Milan therefore do not comprehend it at all."

MARY WARREN CHAPTER

ROXBURY, MASS.

July 17, 1895

Mrs. Ptolomy D. M. Edson, Chapter Regent.

Mary Warren was the daughter of Dr. Samuel Stevens of Roxbury. She married May 29, 1740, Joseph Warren and their son was Gen. Joseph Warren, who was slain at Bunker Hill. Says Frothingham:—"Mary Warren lived to see her sons attain fame and honor;—She was hospitable, kind to her neighbors and benevolent to the poor."

- 491 Historic souvenir of solid silver; is slightly rounded on the bottom, so that the hollowing of the reverse will better fit the body, as the trinket is carried in the vest pocket. The back is covered by a representation of the four days' chase of the frigate Constitution, by the hostile English fleet, commanded by Broke. Engraved by hand, and so well done, that each spar, sail, and the standing rigging on all the ships can be seen. The Constitution is being towed by three boat crews, and from her stern chaser is belching forth the smoke from the shots, she is exchanging with the Belvidera. Besides, there are the old Guerriere, which was afterward captured by the Constitution, the Acolus, the Shannon, which shortly afterward captured the Chesapeake from us, and the small sloop of war, Africa. On the reverse is an American shield and eagle, and from the beak of the latter floats a scroll with the national motto "e pluribus unum". The sides and edges of the box have lines of fine chasing.

NORTH BRIDGE CHAPTER

SALEM, MASS.

July, 1895

---

Mrs. John W. Perkins, Chapter Regent

The first organized resistance in Massachusetts to armed troops of Great Britain took place at the North Bridge, Salem, Feb. 26, 1775.

Col. Leslie had been ordered from Boston with part of his regiment to seize seventeen cannon, which a committee of Provincial Congress had sent to North Salem to be fitted with carriages. Disembarking at Marblehead, they marched to Salem. Arrived at the North Bridge, which must be crossed to reach the cannon, Leslie found the draw raised and, posted behind it, a company of militia men. They, with the citizens gathered there, contended that the road was private and not the King's highway. Leslie declared that he would obey his orders, at whatever cost. A compromise was effected by the counsels of Rev. Thomas Barnard, the soldiers being allowed to cross the bridge on Leslie's promise to countermarch and return without search for the cannon.

During the controversy there were some acts of violence between the parties, and several of the citizens are said to have been slightly wounded by the British while scuttling some boats in which the latter were endeavoring to cross the river before the draw was lowered. This is claimed as the first instance of bloodshed in the Revolution. The affair is known as "Leslie's Retreat."

CAPTAIN THOMAS KEMPTON CHAPTER

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.

October 21, 1896

Mrs. Henry B. James, Chapter Regent

Capt. Thomas Kempton lived at the time of the Revolutionary War in that part of the town of Dartmouth now known as New Bedford. He was Lieutenant-Colonel in the Revolutionary war. The stories of his valour, patriotism and endurance are always told of "Capt. Kempton," a name New Bedford is always proud to claim.

---

- 1396 Manifest. Wm. Giles, 1803: ship John, New York; David Whippey, master, April 19, 1803. Before Christopher Dudley, J. P. "Gen. Hooper, consular agent of his Majesty."
- 1397 Silhouette of Alexander Whippey. Mary E. Brown
- 1398 Petition. Nathaniel Gilbert to the Church at Norton on account of the loss of his house and contents by fire. He was a Revolutionary soldier and saw much service; married Mary Keith, a descendant of the first clergyman in Bridgewater; his son Judson married Mary Gannett, daughter of Deborah Sampson.
- 1399 Letter of Jacob Foster from Roxbury camp, July 2d, 1775, to Anne Howard of Bridgewater, whom he married in 1776; she was sister of Silena Howard, who married Philip Bryant, and became the grandmother of William Cullen Bryant.
- 1400 Letter of Jacob Foster from Roxbury camp, Nov. 9, 1775, to Anne Howard, which shows that the course of true love was not running smoothly at that time.

He figures in the Boston Tea Party, Dec. 16, 1773, as Mr. Rotch. He married his cousin Nancy, daughter of Joseph Rotch. His silhouette was published in the New England Magazine for June, 1893, also in Briggs' History of Shipbuilding of the North River, 1889. Edward Denham
- 1407 Certificate of indebtedness of the Commonwealth of Mass., 1789, to Samuel Richards signed by Alexander Hodgdon, Treasurer. Countersigned by James Lovell. James Lovell was son of John Lovell, teacher of the Boston Latin School, who (John) said in his funeral oration on Peter Fanueil: "May this hall be ever sacred to the interests of truth, justice, loyalty, honor and liberty. May no private views nor party broils ever enter these walls." Later John Lovell departed with the Loyalists to Halifax where he died. This James Lovell was a member of the Continental Congress till 1782; the friend of Gates in his quarrel with Schuyler in 1777, and a supporter with Dr. Benjamin Rush, of Mifflin and Conway in the Conway Cabal. No one can doubt Lovell's firm patriotism though he doubted Washington's ability. He married Mary, daughter of Alexander Middleton: had eight sons and one daughter. This daughter married Mark Pickard, and their daughter married Henry Ware of Harvard College. James Lovell's oldest son, James, served in the Revolution, and was in Lee's Southern Legion. His son, Joseph, served in the war of 1812. Another son married Helen, one of Mr. Sheaffe's handsome daughters. Joseph Hendel, Jr.

DELIVERANCE MUNROE CHAPTER

MALDEN, MASS.

March 9, 1897

Mrs. J. Marshall Phillips, Chapter Regent

Deliverance Monroe of Lexington was noted for her bravery and services during the war of the Revolution. She assisted her brother, Capt. John Parker, who commanded the Minute Men, in melting all available lead, such as cups, tankards, etc., and molding bullets from the same, at the same time assisting and encouraging the men on to battle. The old house is still in existence, and bears proof of the warfare, being pierced with bullet holes.

The Essex Register, 1773, gives an interesting account of the sudden and awful death of some Salem people by the upsetting of a boat near Baker's Island, June 17, 1773. Among the interesting papers is that of the Essex Register, 1815: "Extra! Great News! Bonaparte in Paris, and Re-established as Emperor of France!! All Europe is again in Flames!" April 30, 1815, gives news of the schooner Macedonian of Portsmouth, Penn Townsend, commander. She spoke privateer brig Scourge of N. Y. Speaks of two American privateers in the Mediterranean, one of which had captured twenty prizes. Capture reported of the ship Somerset, Wm. Rogers, prize-master. Apr. 12, spoke brig Diligence forty hours from Portland, "who informed us of Ratification of Peace." Account of Gen. Jackson's trial at New Orleans. Grand plan of Longwood, St. Helena, where Napoleon lived and died a prisoner. It was the plan and intention of Capt. George Crowninshield and his brother John to rescue Napoleon, but owing to causes beyond their control, the final attempt was frustrated. This has been denied by some not wholly conversant with the facts. The book also contains a history of Hanson Posey, a slave at Washington, who faithfully cared for his employer, the Hon. Jacob Crowninshield, M. C., during his last sickness in 1808. In recognition of these services he was given money to purchase his freedom. His brother, Capt. John Crowninshield certifies two years later: "He has behaved with the greatest propriety—sober, industrious, faithful, grateful, and has fulfilled every wish expected of him."

NATHANIEL GAGE CHAPTER

BRADFORD, MASS.

Nov. 23, 1896

Miss Sarah D. Cogswell, Chapter Regent

---

Capt. Gage (1730-1799) was a native of Bradford and quite prominent in town affairs. He was very tactful with the Indians, who often planned to take his life, but never quite dared to do so. He served as Minute Man and commanded a company at Bunker Hill. In addition he devoted half his property to the country.

HISTORICAL DATA

ARRANGED BY MRS. JOSHUA BATES, BRIDGEWATER

Barnstable County

INCORPORATED JUNE 2, 1685

BARNSTABLE. The Baptist Church, originally a court house, stands back of a small common, where in 1774 a collection of citizens from all parts of the country, styling themselves "The body of the People", prevented the assembling of the courts, because an appeal could be taken to royal authority therefrom. The first overt act of rebellion in Massachusetts.

BOURNEDALE. Site of the old Pilgrim trading post at Monument River. Site of the Indian church paid for by Judge Samuel Sewall who presided at the witchcraft trials.

CHATHAM. Champlain, the French navigator visited this location before the Pilgrims.

EASTHAM. The last spot visited by the Mayflower's company.

NORTH TRURO. Standish and his exploring party from the Mayflower, drank from the spring in this town.

PROVINCETOWN. Tablet erected in front of the Provincetown Town Hall, to commemorate the First Landing of the Pilgrims and the signing of the social compact.

SANDWICH. Visited by Gov. Bradford in 1662 to procure corn.

WEST BARNSTABLE. Birthplace, and early residence of James Otis, also birthplace of Chief Justice Shaw.

YARMOUTH. House, in the upper rooms of which, the women of the town sat up all night to make cartridges and other preparations for the military company, which started the next morning for Dorchester on the requisition of Gen. Washington.

Berkshire County

INCORPORATED APRIL 21, 1761

ADAMS. Fort Massachusetts, famous during the French wars, built in 1745. The Perry elm now marks the site of the old fort.

CHESHIRE. The famous mammoth Cheese presented to President Jefferson, Jan 1, 1802, weighing 1450 pounds, came from this town.

CLARKSBURG. Hudson's brook perpetuates the name of the first white settler.

GREAT BARRINGTON. Monument mountain, so named from a rude cairn once here; William C. Bryant, a former resident, wrote a poem on this romantic tradition.

HINSDALE. First settled by Francis, David, and Thomas Miller, who surveyed the road from Boston to Albany, and ran the line between Massachusetts and New York.

OTIS. Named in honor of Hon. Harrison Gray Otis of Boston, at that time Speaker of the House of Representatives.

NEW BEDFORD. An old elm stands on the county road where the British rested on their destructive visit, Sept. 7, 1778.

REHOBOTH. Grave of Massasoit and a well dug by him. William Blackstone was the first white settler. There Roger Williams first pitched his tent when driven from Massachusetts. Memorable for the capture of Annawon the last of King Philip's chieftains, Aug. 28, 1676.

RAYNHAM. Site of one of the earliest iron works. Many sites of ancient dwellings marked by tablets.

SWANSEA. First English blood shed in King Philip's War.

TAUNTON. The old Unitarian church is the site where King Philip met the Commissioners of the Colony just before the outbreak of King Philip's war in 1675. Until within a few years, East Taunton was called Squawbetty; it was purchased of "Squaw Betty" for a peck of beans; her father was John Sausaman, an Indian Christian missionary.

ANDOVER. Sold in 1646 by Cutshamache to Mr. John Woodbridge for £6 and a coat, with certain privileges to "Roger."

The North Parish is the older settlement (North Andover since 1855). Both towns abound in well preserved homesteads, owned through successive generations. The oldest house, built by Gov. Simon Bradstreet, home of his wife Anne, the first woman poet of America, is in the North Parish. The first manufactory was Judge Phillips' powder mill, afterwards a paper, now a woolen mill. Harvard College stored a part of her library during the Revolution in the house where Phillips Academy was organized, 1778, and the first lectures before the Theological Seminary delivered, 1808. This house demolished 1890. James Otis killed by lightning at the Osgood place, West Parish.

BRADFORD. Indian Hill, site of the old Powder House. House of Dudley Carlton, who represented the town in the General Assembly in 1776. This house used in the Revolutionary war for prisoners. Bradford Academy; a coeducational school incorporated, 1804. (Afterward restricted to girls). American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions organized here in 1810.

DANVERS. Gov. Endicott's grant in 1632. The Endicott pear tree still in good condition, yet about two hundred and sixty five years old. The Rebeka Nurse House; also her grave. Monument to those who fell at Lexington. Site of the old Bell Tavern, where Col. Timothy Pickering halted his Salem Regiment on their march to Bunker Hill. Here died "Eliza Wharton" the heroine of "The Coquette," one of the first American novels, by Mrs. Foster.

GROVELAND. The church edifice now standing and in constant use was erected 1790; in its belfrey hangs a Paul Revere bell with this inscription

"The living to the Church I call
And to the grave I summon all."
REVERE, 1795.

GLOUCESTER. Comprises Cape Ann. The promontory was named "Anne" by Prince Charles out of respect for his mother. "Mother Ann's" profile is carved by nature on a large rock at Eastern Point and is said to be a very good likeness. A fishing and planting station commenced here under Roger Conant in 1624; but was given up in 1626; a few years later a permanent settlement was made by Rev. Mr. Blyman and fifty others. Some remains are left at Cape Anne of a house, built at the time John Endicott was sent there, in 1628, with one hundred men.

petition to Concord by the British in 1775. Early in 1645 the sale of intoxicating beverages was restrained by license, both as to the manner of sale and as to where it should be sold. Birthplace of John G. Whittier, Dec. 17, 1807.

IPSWICH. First place in Essex County visited by Europeans; Capt. Edward Hardie and Nicholas Hobson touched at this place on their way to Virginia, 1611. Mascounomet (the sagamore) sold his right to Ipswich for £20; died 1658; buried on Sagamore Hill (now Hamilton). A man was prosecuted, 1667, for digging up the bones of the Sagamore, and for carrying his "scull on a pole."

The first pastor was Rev. Nathaniel Ward, author of the "Simple Cobbler of Agawam." Rev. William Hubbard settled here in 1656; in 1682 the legislature voted him £50, for his history of New England and the next year ordered this sum paid him now if "he procure a fayre coppie to be written, that it be fitted for the presse."

LYNN. First iron works in America; the dies used for stamping the pine-tree shilling were cast at these works. Appleton's Pulpit; to this precipitous bluff is fastened a tablet much defaced, reading "In September, 1667, from this rock, resisting the tyranny of Sir Edmund Andros, Major Samuel Appleton of Ipswich spoke to the people in behalf of those principles which later were embodied in the Declaration of Independence." Pirates Glen, Wolf Pits, date from 1630. Lynn Mineral Spring; Cotton Mather extols its virtue. Dr. Crowninshield settled here. Flax Pond; at one end is a large flat stone from which the stern Puritan used to duck a scold until she promised to mend her ways. Black Anne's Corner, said to take its name from an old negro once a scout in Gen. Washington's army. Old Blue Anchor Tavern, half way from Salem to Boston, for a hundred and seventy years the most celebrated tavern in Essex County.

MARBLEHEAD. Historic sites. The Tucker House, built 1640; Home of Gen. Glover. The Old Tavern. Old Custom House. The Eagle House. Fort Sewall: The Home of Col. Azor Orne. The Old Brig. The Old Burying Hill. Birthplace of Judge Story. St. Michael's Church. King Hoopers House. The Hooper House. The Powder House. Three houses on Mugford Street. The Lee Mansion.

NEWBURYPORT. The Coffin House, erected 1645. Noyes's House, Parker street, erected 1646. Old Garrison House erected 1648. Old South Church, corner Federal and School streets, where Whitfield preached and where he is buried, erected 1756. House where Whitfield died. House where Garrison was born, School street. Residence of Nathaniel Tracy. Dalton House, State street. Timothy Dexter House, High street. Barlett-Hopkinson House, residence of Francis Hopkinson, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. The original Bartlett House was built in 1680, the door stone of which still marks the spot. The Bartletts engaged in the first tannery business and used the famous "boiling springs" for that purpose.

NEWBURY AND BYFIELD. Here are many old monuments in Colonial graveyards. There are some milestones and stones in the foundations of old houses, which are carved in a style very unlike that of most Puritan monuments; these symbols are disks, whorls, fleur-de-lis, phallic signs, and a design representing the Sun-God's bride, with a sunburst over it. Birthplace of Theophilus Parsons.

SALEM. Essex Institute. Old First Meeting House, 1634. Turner House. Birthplace of Nathaniel Bowditch. Site of Witchcraft Jail; Court Houses in Federal street, where the witchcraft records are to be seen; and many portraits, including Hunt's famous portrait of Chief Justice Shaw. North Bridge, North street, scene of Leslie's retreat, Feb. 26, 1775; Roger Williams House, corner of Essex and North streets; Gallows Hill, the scene of nineteen witchcraft executions, 1692; Pickering House, Broad street, 1651. Charter street Burial Ground, the earliest burial place in Salem.

BERNARDSTON. "The Falls," scene of "Fall Fight" in 1676. Sites of first four Forts belonging to Major Burk, Mr. S. Connable, Lieut. E. Sheldon, Deacon Sheldon.

DEERFIELD. Monument at Bloody Brook in memory of Capt. Lathrop and his men who fell on this spot by an ambush of Indians. House of Capt. John Sheldon, only house left after the massacre March 1st 1704, headed by Major Hertel de Rouville. A journal of one of the prisoners kept in the march to Canada where they were taken, is in one of the Canadian convents, also a small church bell taken then is now hanging in an Indian Church in St. Regis.

GREENFIELD. The scene of many horrors of Indian warfare. Monument of John Williams, who was captured and carried into Canada with fifty seven captives, and who was redeemed and brought to Boston, 1706. The celebrated Capt. Jonathan Carver resided here many years.

NEW SALEM. "Village Green," where on the intelligence of the Battle of Lexington the people hastily assembled; their captain, being believed to be a Tory. William Stacy, first Lieutenant, took off his hat and addressed them:

"Fellow soldiers, I don't know exactly how it is with you,— I will no longer serve a king who murders my own countrymen," and tearing his commission in pieces, trod it under foot; Capt. Stacy led this small band to Cambridge, was finally Lieut. Col. under command of Putnam.

NORTHFIELD. Site of horrible barbarity at Beer's plain and Beer's Mountain.

BRIMFIELD. Monument of Gen. William Eaton.

LONGMEADOW. Monument of Rev. Stephen Williams, ordained in 1716. Son of Rev. John Williams of Deerfield, who was carried captive with his father to Canada.

SPRINGFIELD. House still in possession of descendants of William Pyncheon, Esq.; magistrate in 1629; came with Gov. Winthrop. Site of Indian fort at Long Hill.

WEST SPRINGFIELD. Site of first Meeting House. Site of house of first minister, Rev. John Woodbridge: an appearance here of an underground passage connecting the cellar of the house with a cavern, where tradition says the women and children fled in alarm from the Indians.

WILBRAHAM. Site of first house where Nathaniel Hitchcock and his family lived one year alone: in 1733, four families lived in this place. Rev. Noah Hitchcock was ordained in Mrs. Warriner's barn, the weather proving so stormy that they abandoned the oak tree where their preparations for it had been made.

Abbot Academy, Andover, Mass.

Abbot Academy, founded in 1829, is a seminary for the higher education of young women. It is distinctly Christian in its instruction, discipline, and influence. It aims to prepare girls for useful, earnest lives by providing opportunities for thorough intellectual culture and by endeavoring to secure the best development of character.

Extended seminary courses in Latin, Greek, French and German languages, with History, Literature and Science, and rare facilities for Music and Art are fully provided for, and also a thorough college fitting course. The College Preparatory Course gives certificate to any College that admits on certificate.

The successful work of this Academy is exemplified in the cases of the many who have filled and are filling important fields as missionaries, home and foreign, as authors, librarians, physicians, artists, successful teachers and wives of clergymen and officers of colleges and other institutions.

Andover is situated on the Boston and Maine railroad, twenty-three miles north of Boston. It has a healthful climate, and is in a region of beautiful scenery. As the seat of several educational institutions, Andover offers many incidental benefits to the pupils of the Academy, while its proximity to Boston renders the best advantages of that city easily available.

The grounds comprise about twenty-three acres, including grove, lawns and gravel and concrete walks.

Draper Hall furnishes a home for all pupils pursuing English and German. It is equipped with the best modern conveniences for the health and comfort of pupils, including effective systems of hot water heating and electric lighting. It has separate floors for Music and Art, a large reading room, and a commodious library. The greater number of rooms in this building are en suite, allowing two rooms, a parlor and a bedroom, for two pupils. There are a few larger rooms for two persons, and a few single rooms. Each young lady has a single bed, her own bureau, closet and toilet conveniences.

Those studying French live in Smith Hall, where French is the chief language spoken. Good accommodations are here provided, a pleasant dining room and home-like parlors, with a separate room for each pupil.

Abbot Hall contains the chapel, class-rooms, laboratory, and gymnasium.

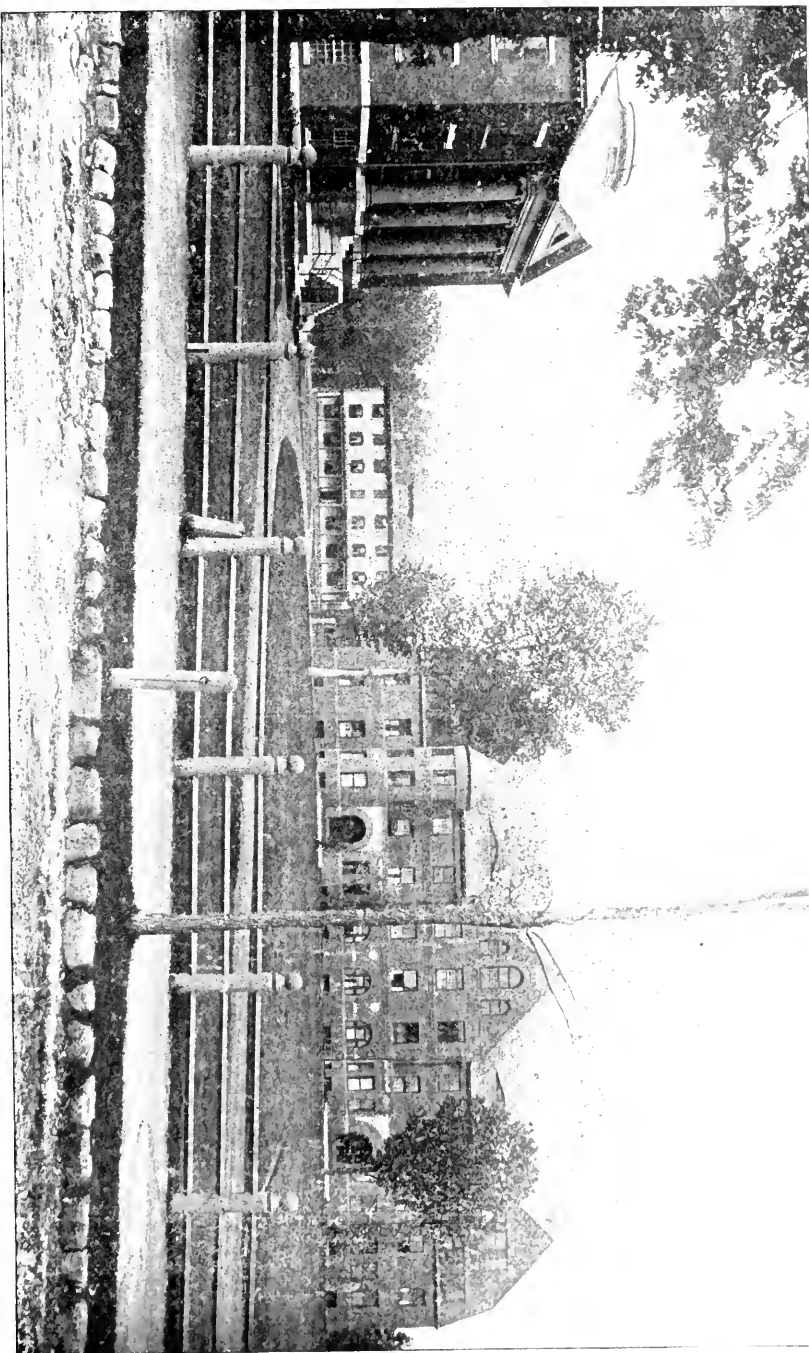

The Academy Library, of some five thousand volumes, is a carefully selected reference library, especially well supplied with works for the study of Literature, History, Science and Art. New books are constantly added for every department of study represented in the course. Students have access to the library, as well as to the reading-room, which is well furnished with the leading reviews and newspapers of the day. The observatory has a fine Clark telescope.

The Spring Term opens April 15, 1897. The first term of the sixty-ninth year will begin September 16, 1897.

The total expense for board, including fuel, lights and washing, and for tuition, except music and drawing, is $400 per annum.

For Catalogues address W. F. DRAPER. For additional particulars and for admission, MISS LAURA S. WATSON, Principal.
